Eco Friendly Ganpati Visarjan...

The celebration of the festival takes place on a huge scale that is leading to several environmental issues. The immersion of the Ganesh idols and other material required to perform rituals lead to cause water pollution whereas the huge loudspeakers played during the whole festival increases noise pollution.

The eco-friendly Plant Ganesha is one of the best ways to give back some goodness to Mother Nature. The idols are made entirely from clay and plant seeds are placed inside.

The immersion (visarjan) of this idol is done in a pot and within a few days of immersion, the seeds start to spring. Isn't that the best way to stay bless.
